

PELIN'S BUSY SCHOOL DAY

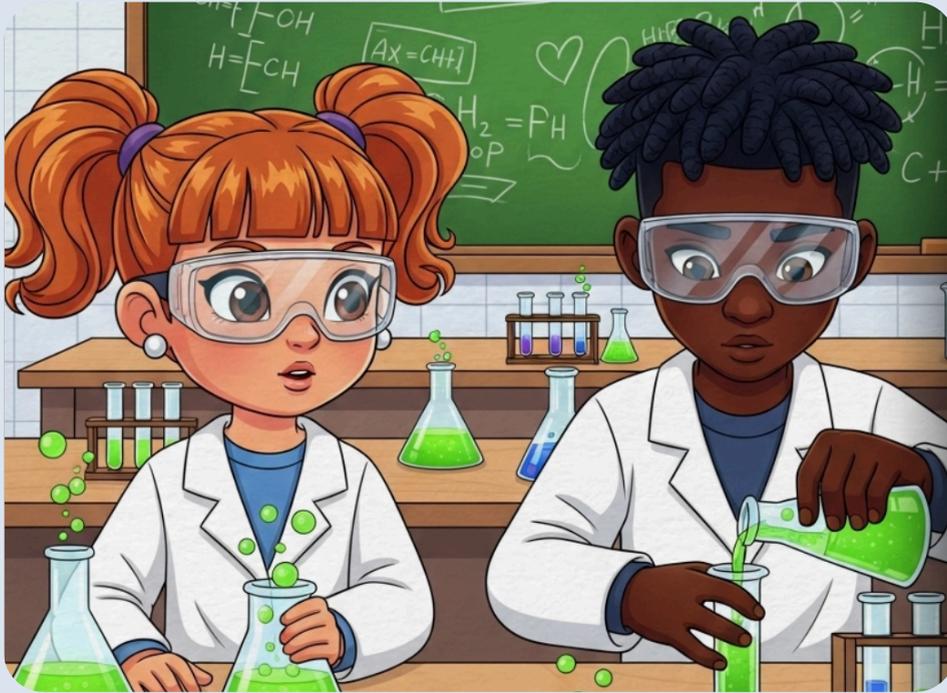

The sun is shining brightly over the school building. Mr. Demir stands at the entrance with a big smile. He waves to the students as they arrive. "Rise and shine, time for school fun!" he calls out. Pelin walks toward him, carrying her colorful backpack. She is ready for a new day of learning.

Pelin meets her friend Mark near the lockers. They are talking about the special international school exchange program. "Our school works with a school in Finland," Mark says. Pelin is very excited because schools from different parts of the world teach us cooperation. "We are sending letters to our new friends today," Pelin explains.

It is time for the Science Club. Pelin and Ege are wearing white lab coats and safety goggles. "Laboratory work is done in the Science Club," Ege says. Right now, they are performing an experiment with blue and green liquids. They observe the bubbles carefully. In this club, new discoveries are made every week.

In the library, the Chess Club is meeting. Daisy and Mark are sitting at a wooden table. "Chess is played quietly to help us think," Daisy whispers. They are focusing on the board. Mark is moving his white knight piece right now. This is a routine they follow every Tuesday afternoon to improve their skills.

Next, Pelin visits the Drama Club room. She sees Daisy wearing a crown. "The script is memorized by the actors," Daisy explains. They are rehearsing a new play for the school festival. Pelin is watching the performance. In the Drama Club, self-expression is achieved through magic and performance.

A new student named Elias is visiting from Finland. Pelin is showing him the school courtyard. "Welcome to our school!" Pelin says. Elias is smiling and holding a flag. They are talking about their favorite subjects. Knowledge is shared between the students to help them become global citizens.

It is lunchtime in the school courtyard. Ege and Mark are very active. "The ball is kicked by Ege!" Mark shouts. They are playing a friendly game of football on the green grass. Playing sports is a healthy routine for the students. Many games are organized by the school to keep everyone happy and strong.

The final bell rings, and it is time to clean up. Pelin helps Mr. Demir in the classroom. "Let's tidy before we go home!" Mr. Demir says. Pelin is putting the books back on the shelf, and the floor is swept by the teacher. They want the classroom to be perfect for the next day.

Pelin meets Ege at the school gate. They are both wearing their backpacks. "School is over today!" Ege says happily. They talk about the fun things they did in their clubs. They are feeling tired but very satisfied with their hard work.

Pelin sees Mr. Demir one last time before she leaves. "See you bright and early tomorrow!" Mr. Demir calls out. Pelin waves her hand and smiles at her teacher. "Catch you later, Alligator!" she replies with a laugh. She is already looking forward to more school adventures.
